The Solid Waste Authority of Palm Beach County offers a variety of trainings and workshops to formal and non-formal educators. These workshops are designed to teach the participants about the environment from a solid waste perspective. All of our workshops give the participants lessons to take back to their classrooms that meet the Florida Standards.

The lessons include hands on activities that meet curriculum in subject areas such as: science, math, social studies, language arts, visual arts, and more. These lessons help students have the ability to make informed decisions on issues related to the environment. As Margaret Mead stated, “Children must be taught how to think, not what to think.”

Our workshops are developed from a number of nationally recognized environmental education programs including: Project Learning Tree, Project Wild, Environmental Protection Agency, and more.

Project Learning Tree and Project Wild are award-winning comprehensive environmental education programs designed for teachers and other educators, parents and community leaders working with youth from preschool through grade 12.
